

FTTX-Fiber to the MaX

A HENKELS & MCCOY Group Company

Looking for a company that brings the ability to provide an end-to-end solution for your fiber to the home, fiber to the tower, or fiber to the X projects? We have a solution. Henkels & McCoy, Inc. stands among the leading infrastructure companies in North America, with the skilled people, national scale, and resources to craft the creative solutions demanded by our customers to meet the most complex network requirements.

Well established firm

When you place your trust in Henkels & McCoy, you enlist the expertise of a privately held organization that has grown consistently since our founding more than ninety years ago. We have the stability, credibility, and financial wherewithal to execute virtually any size project. H&M is consistently ranked in the top ten in the Engineering-News Record's Top 600 Specialty Contractors list. In an era of mergers and acquisitions, we offer the peace of mind, confidence, and reliability that comes with experience, and a commitment to your future as well as ours.

Safety

Safety represents a pledge to protect our employees, customers, and the public. Our corporate safety program is well known throughout the industry, and assures that safety performance is a result of continual evaluation and implementation of company and industry-wide best practices.

FTT Expertise

- ADSS / OPGW installation
- Aerial construction
- Construction management
- Feasibility studies and Financial projections
- Fiber backhaul
- FTTH / FTTP
- ITS
- OSP / ISP implementation
- Plowing / trenching / directional drilling
- Project management
- Small cell EPC
- Smart grid
- Turnkey projects

Significant resources

With over 70 fully functional regional, area, and project offices throughout the United States, more than 4,000 employees, and over 6,000 pieces of modern equipment, our ability to provide total solutions is unsurpassed. And while your priorities may change over the life of a project, we retain our capacity to deliver on time and on budget.

We find a way

Our customers look to us for ideas in the face of increasingly complex challenges. Henkels & McCoy is the place where solutions are born. We have never lost sight of the fact that the work we do is not an end in itself. We provide our customers (and their customers) with the comfort and security of knowing that their critical need for reliable communications infrastructure will be met.

PERFORMANCE has built our business...®

CONNECTIONS FOR PERFORMANCE™

www.henkels.com

marketing@henkels.com

